

Measure. Analyze. Understand.

Students apply mathematics, statistics, and data science solutions to topics as broad as financial risk management, trading and FinTech.

University of Minnesota
School of Mathematics

Master of Financial Mathematics (MFM)

High Value Curriculum - Tight-Knit Community - Strong Career Support

The University of Minnesota's (UMN) MFM is a professional master's program that prepares students to enter the well-paying and fascinating field of quantitative finance, which entails the application of mathematics, statistics, data science/machine learning and scientific computing to finance, investments, and risk management.

<https://cse.umn.edu/mcfam/master-financial-mathematics-mfm>